Public Education and Outreach

Under the Rules and Regulations of the Fair Employment Practice Act and the Nebraska Fair Housing Act, the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission (NEOC) is required to engage in education and outreach activities for the purposes of educating the public about the discrimination laws of the state. The NEOC consults and sometimes partners with local officials and other persons in the employment and housing community. The NEOC also engages in dialog with consumers for public accommodation cases to gain cooperation, compliance, and enforcement of these laws.

It is essential for the NEOC to continue to conduct Technical Assistance programs for the employers, housing providers and housing operators in all areas of the state, including Scottsbluff/Gering, Grand Island, North Platte, South Sioux City, Norfolk, Hastings, Lincoln, and Omaha. Technical assistance may be via the phone or a scheduled presentation. Many of these training sessions have voluntary participation which have been hosted by businesses, realtors, educational institutions, and charitable organizations in several cities. In particular, the Nebraska Real Estate Commission approved offering a course to salespeople and brokers which was presented in Gering and Norfolk. The full day course was presented by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development representatives, Legal Aid Society representatives, and the NEOC. During the past year, over 150 realtors have received credit for this course. The people attending these courses are often involved in the housing industry including property owners, real estate management companies, and internet advertisers who have received training in several emerging issues of housing discrimination. Some of the education topics for housing providers and operators included renting to a person with an assistance animal; occupancy standards related to national origin and familial status; reasonable modifications in housing; and screening for criminal history.

The educational presentations for employers have covered key topics and issues such as workplace harassment including sexual harassment; non-discriminatory hiring and firing procedures; waivers; reasonable accommodations for disability and religious practices; screening for criminal history; and English-only rules. Employers have requested additional information on how to respond to a charge of discrimination; how to conduct an internal investigation; and pregnancy discrimination.

Some educational activities do not have voluntary participation; because participation is mandatory pursuant to an agreement reached through mediation, settlement, or conciliation of a case. Though these sessions are generally attended by smaller groups, they tend to focus on the specific discriminatory issues and bases of a charge which was filed with the NEOC. The recipients of the training sessions tell us the information is informative and helps improve the business practices not only in Nebraska, but throughout the country. The State of Nebraska, through the NEOC, has a stake in assuring that businesses receive the education and technical assistance needed to conduct business in a way that does not trample the civil and human rights of its residents and workers.

The NEOC will continue to provide education on the discrimination laws because doing so promotes a foundation of justice, fairness, and equality. We look forward to these friendly interactions with the community, and based on responses received throughout the year, the community looks forward to the information, education, and outreach from the NEOC.

TABLE 15: ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR) Employment and Public Accommodation Cases

In 2004/2005 the NEOC developed the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) program. The focus of ADR is to resolve pending employment and public accommodation cases prior to an investigation and determination being issued by the Commission. There are two options available in the ADR program: mediation and pre-determination settlement. Mediation typically involves the parties meeting face-to-face with a mediator to discussion resolution; whereas, pre-determination settlement involves discussion of resolution between the parties as relayed (usually via telephone) by the mediator.

Participation in the program is done on a voluntary basis. As the table indicates, when parties actively participate in the program there is a high rate of successful resolution. However, there are times when the parties indicate an interest in the ADR program, but after an initial discussion, determine they no longer want to participate in the process and request an investigation. These discussions are not considered unsuccessful as the parties never fully engaged in the process.

HIGHLIGHTS....

In addition to the ADR program, the NEOC attempts to resolve employment and public accommodation cases during an investigation prior to the NEOC issuing a determination. In FY 15/16 the NEOC resolved 46 cases during the investigative stage.

The NEOC also endeavors to resolve housing cases. Discussions regarding resolution are an ongoing process throughout the investigation for all housing cases. In FY 15/16, the NEOC settled 19 housing cases which is 22% of the total initial housing decisions by the NEOC. The NEOC also adopted settlements in 2 other housing cases.
